Introduction

Every six months, your chart is affected by solar and lunar eclipses. We understand the geometry of an eclipse as the alignment of the Sun, Moon, and Earth. We marvel at their appearance, as they bring us moments of heavenly wonder and beauty. This beauty is a play of light and dark between the two great heavenly lights, the Sun and the Moon. At a total solar eclipse, the Moon covers the Sun, appearing as a black disc rimmed by solar flares. At a lunar eclipse, the bright full Moon moves through Earth's shadow, losing its light and sometimes becoming blood coloured.

In the past, since eclipses challenged the order of light and dark, people thought they were times of worry or stress, calamities waiting to happen. This, however, was not always the case. At the dawn of astrology, each eclipse was viewed differently; some were thought to bring difficulties to the kingdom, while others brought blessings.

It was, however, recognised that eclipses came in great cycles that ran for well over a thousand years, and these cycles still have meaning for us today. Each eclipse belongs to a unique cycle, and each cycle has its own meaning. We encounter each eclipse cycle only once every 18.5 years. Every six months, when an eclipse occurs, it engages with your horoscope by occupying different houses and forming different aspects, and it also adds its cycle's unique meaning to your life. Some eclipse cycles continue to bring blessings and insights, while others uncover cracks and faults that may have been papered over for years. All, however, will reveal what lies in the shadows of your life or in your thinking. All of them show the dark within the light through a myriad of different lenses.

This eclipse horoscope focuses on the unique meanings of the current eclipse cycles that are affecting you now.

The Eclipses of this Season

The times of year when eclipses occur are called eclipse seasons. The eclipse season in March 2025 includes two eclipses: first, a lunar eclipse on 14 March 2025 (Saros cycle 123), then a solar eclipse on 29 March 2025 (Saros cycle 149). You may begin to feel the influence of these eclipses from about two weeks before the season begins, End of February 2025, until it ends on mid-April 2025.

The eclipse season following this one will be in September 2025.

The Lunar Eclipse on 14 March 2025 at 23°59 Virgo

The Nature of This Eclipse

This lunar eclipse belongs to the Saros cycle 123. In the following chapter, you will learn about the fundamental nature of the eclipse in this cycle.

As the lunar eclipse approaches, you may feel pressure to tackle pending paperwork or raise pressing concerns with friends. Trust these feelings and act on them, as they could lead to beneficial changes in your plans. If you ignore them or bury your head in the sand, you may end up feeling lost and confused. This period holds the potential for a significant shift in your circumstances, whether through recognition for your creative endeavours or an unexpected opportunity from an artistic or spiritual person in your circle.

By resolving these lingering issues, you pave the way for new opportunities that will ultimately put you in a more favourable light. Embrace this time as a chance for growth and progress, knowing that proactive steps can lead to positive outcomes in the long run.

The Eclipse in Your Personal Life

In the next chapter, you will learn how the effects of the eclipse can manifest in your own life.

This eclipse will also highlight your longstanding desire to study or travel. It may come through a trip, visitors, or encounters with new ideas that broaden your perspective. This is a time to stand on a peak and take in a wide panorama. You may get the chance to study or learn a new skill, or feel inspired to connect with people from other cultures.

Amid this expansion, you may also need to handle some legal matters. If you find yourself drawn into a legal transaction, focus closely and make sure you fully understand all the details.

As the eclipse approaches, it challenges you to re-evaluate how you broaden your world and marks a crucial turning point in your life. You may need to make tough decisions, so consider exploring new areas such as studying, travelling, or attending sporting events. However, underlying all of this is the need to be practical and to take responsibility for your ideas and actions. Avoid letting others sway you from your path. If you associate with an artistic or spiritual person, this could help or hinder you. Ensure you are not unthinkingly following their ideas and beliefs, but are using their guidance to enhance your personal growth. Any actions arising from the events of this eclipse will ultimately lead you to broader, better horizons.

Your desire to take action precipitates the events of this eclipse. You will become more aware of how other people regard you and may find yourself more sensitive to your environment. You might also change your diet, which could affect your appearance as you lose or gain weight. You may even feel drawn to change your sense of identity (your name, for instance) or the way you dress. You might also choose different fabrics against your skin or different colours to wear. You could be offered a leadership role in your community, perhaps becoming the driving force behind a group cause.

This month, it is also natural to feel overwhelmed by the changing and unexpected circumstances life throws your way. However, the way you respond to them sets you apart and can lead to meaningful change in your life. You have the power to shape your circumstances. Stay calm and focused. Dress well and present yourself with confidence, as this strongly influences how others perceive you. Do not let others dictate what you should do, especially someone with artistic or spiritual leanings. They may support your progress, but they could just as easily hinder it. Take ownership of your actions and make decisions that align with your values and beliefs. This eclipse will reveal how well you interact with the world and how well you know yourself.

A teacher, a guru, or a friend who travels frequently may bring the events of this eclipse into your life. Through them, you will experience this time as an expansion of your world, whether through new ideas or changes to your physical location. You may find yourself drawn to study a completely new subject, or asked to teach a new skill, or an old skill in a new way. You could also feel the urge to travel. If your circumstances mean you are unable to incorporate the changes this eclipse highlights, events may still occur that seem excessive but could broaden your world.

During this period, you may experience many changes in your travel and study needs. It can be challenging, but it is also an opportunity for growth and transformation. Consider seeking a mentor to help you navigate these changes and empower you to create the world you want to live in. Listen carefully to their advice, but make decisions based on your values. Even as they inspire and motivate you, they could hinder your progress if they do not share your goals or values. Finally, be practical about your responsibilities. You may have great ideas and aspirations, but they will only become reality with hard work, dedication, and a solid plan. Remember, making some changes is better than none at all.

The overall impact of this eclipse is that events catalyse a change in your approach to your resources, whether those resources are money, your energy, or both. You may find you have overspent and need to tighten your budget, or an unexpected expense causes difficulties. What you thought was reliable, whether cars, people, or lifestyle choices, is now developing problems and needs your attention. This is the time to focus on shortages, and by dealing with them now you will avoid problems in the future.

The Solar Eclipse on 29 March 2025 at 9°00 Aries

The Nature of This Eclipse

This solar eclipse belongs to the Saros cycle 149. In the following chapter, you will learn about the fundamental nature of the eclipse in this cycle.

This eclipse is marked by intense physical energy. This period offers opportunities to bring new ideas or projects to life, either in a tangible way (such as giving birth) or by investing significant effort to complete projects. You might even find yourself engaging in intense sexual encounters. Whether you are forming a creative concept or taking on extreme physical activities, prioritise safety and proceed with caution. Follow safety protocols closely and prepare for unexpected developments. You can make the most of this time by approaching physical tasks with awareness and proper precautions while minimising potential risks.

As this time is physically intense, be aware that accidents, injuries, and sudden events are more likely. It is essential to be mindful and handle the energy with care. If you are considering taking on physical challenges, such as learning a new sport or undertaking a home extension or renovations, ensure all safety measures are in place to prevent injury.

The Eclipse in Your Personal Life

In the next chapter, you will learn how the effects of the eclipse can manifest in your own life.

The energy of this eclipse also manifests in your local neighbourhood, including your regular commute and the people and places you see every day. This can include work colleagues, your local coffee shop, the supermarket, and planned social events.

Changes or unexpected events could also arise in how you communicate, how you connect to the cloud, the groups with whom you engage online, or the flow of images and text with which you work. Consider any changes or glitches as opportunities to meet new people, discover new routes to work, or find new ways of working.

With passion and hard work, this eclipse offers new ways to refine your communication skills and your handling of paperwork, and to foster strong relationships in your local neighbourhood and with your siblings. In the month ahead, cultivate active listening and express yourself clearly and thoughtfully, showing genuine interest and enthusiasm. This will take considerable effort, so apply yourself diligently. Also consider how you can bring new projects or ideas to life within your neighbourhood or family. By talking openly with your siblings, getting involved in community projects, or organising neighbourhood events, you can strengthen your relationships and solve problems constructively. This could also include setting aside daily time to organise documents and records, or to take on administrative tasks. Additionally, take care with important paperwork and pay close attention to any fine print. Make sure all paperwork is filed or stored so you can find it when needed.

The overall outcome of these events is that new groups enter your life as you are propelled into a different social situation. This is a time when you can expand your social circle, so be proactive and look for groups where you feel comfortable. Alternatively, these new friendships might be found within your work environment. The key point is that, because of the events of the eclipse, your social world broadens.

Conclusion

All of the above influences will be active from end of February 2025 to mid-April 2025. However, from around the end of 2024 through to the end of 2025, the background issues in your life (the ones you are engaging with, not necessarily on a daily basis, but rather your 'current' project or the issues on your plate) will center on expanding your horizons. You may focus on studying, either formally or through self-study; if so, this is an excellent time to make headway in gaining additional qualifications in your chosen field. Alternatively, you may be preoccupied with planning travel. This is a period when you can grow in knowledge and wisdom.

The themes of this eclipse season will stay with you for a while, possibly until the start of the next one in September 2025. The eclipses this season will highlight these issues, giving you a chance to rebalance. Remember, eclipses are all about light and dark. They remind us that no matter how bright something is, and no matter how clear you believe your understanding is, there is always another side, not necessarily negative, just hidden from your point of view. These eclipses allow you to glimpse this other side.
